The 2008 Original Nor'Easter -

Under blue-grey September skies thirty four armed cowboys approached the toll gate to the William J. Lepetomane Highway. Each and every one was heard to mutter that day that somebody had better go back and get a "sload" of dimes. Yes, it was the 2008 Original Nor'Easter and the theme was "Blazing Saddles." The theme was also "rain or no rain" but more on that later.

The 2008 Original Nor'easter has held Sept. 27 & 28 despite a weekend forecast calling for rain both days. Thirty-four shooters packed rangeland, chose to ignore the forecast and attended. The theme this year was "Blazing Saddles". Gun E. Bear wrote the stages based on lines from the movie. He also did quite a bit of overtime, arriving in St J. Thursday afternoon. By the time Doc McCoy arrived Friday morning most of the stages were already set-up before the rain arrived.

Friday was movie night in the clubhouse with a showing of "Blazing Saddles" so shooters were familiar with the movie lines. Thanks to Ranger John Law for the use of his DVD player. We also ran the movie as background during Saturday morning registration.

After the Friday afternoon and evening rain showers, Saturday turned out to be an excellent dry day. Everyone liked the movie theme, lines and props like having to put "dimes" in the Gov. Lepetomane Highway toll booth before you could open the gate and begin shooting. The weather man was in error again as Sunday morning was a fine sunny start. Strange how neither posse trusted that and hustled to finish the stages before lunch to avoid the predicted afternoon showers. They were right. They almost made it, but the rains arrived as predicted during the last stage. After the last stage was shot the sun came out again. At least we got to pack the trailer for the winter without rain.
